Daniele Piva, Sales & Marketing Director of Fabbrica d'Armi Pietro Beretta, declares: "We are extremely happy with these two medals. Fatima Galvez and Alessandra Perilli gifted us with great emotions. They approached this competition with a complete Beretta branded equipment: not only their DT11 shotguns but also the vests of their respective National Teams and the Shooting Data platform. Too bad for the Italian Team we are emotionally connected with for obvious reasons, but with all our support I am sure we can start again and look to Paris with confidence. Long live the Beretta Team!"

The President Franco Gussalli Beretta finally commented: "Two more precious medals! I am happy for the prestigious overall result, the second best ever. With 3 Golds, 3 Silvers and 3 Bronzes we take home with us another significant Olympic experience. The DT11 is again confirmed as an extremely performing shotgun in every discipline. Congratulations to our athletes, a big thanks for the sacrifices they make every day and for their ability to convey our beautiful sport all over the world. Finally, thanks also to all the collaborators who work at Beretta for the important Olympic project."

A tribute and thanks also goes to all the Beretta athletes who arrived to these Olympics from all over the world and to the finalists, who lost the chance to win a medal but have proven extraordinary results promising a bright future in international competitions: Eetu Kallioinen, 23-year-old Finn in fourth place for the Skeet Men; Jorge Martin Orozco Diaz from Mexico, just 21 years old and just one step away from the Trap Men podium, the French Eric Delaunay and the Italian Tammaro Cassandro (respectively fifth and sixth place in the Skeet Men), both achieving
